HIGH SCHOOL TO OBSERVE JINX DAY

Faculty and Pupils Make Elaborate Preparations For Annual Event

Glendale Union high school tomorrow will celebrate "Jinx Day."

This annual Mardi Gras of the school is expected to rival last year's observance in the presentation of a colorful, animated, bewitching, bewildering and mystifying masquerade.

The Fox Film Company will be on the job taking pictures of the jinx pageant. Roll rooms are expected to vie with each other in ascertaining which one can put on the most unique, novel or grotesque stunt to be shown later in local movies.

Classes will be held as usual and pupils have been warned of the awful consequences of "ditching"—however, tomorrow is Jinx Day.

Plan Big Program

To make the matter worse, the faculty has the "audacity" to threaten to put on a program in the evening for Mr. and Mrs. Jinks.

This is going to be some program—Harold Brewster, dramatic coach, says so himself. He ought to know because he has been attending the rehearsals.

"The Shooting of Dan McGrew" is the title of a pantomime burlesque in which a trio of chorus girls will be seen in a barroom. However, two of the parts will be taken by Bert Rolfe and Ross V. Miller. Lou, the vamp, will be played by Fred Borncamp. The part of the stranger from up the creek, which really means out in the hall, will be taken by Irving H. Oliver. O. E. McDowell will have the privilege of being shot as Dan McGrew.

This play was never presented before in Glendale. Mr. Brewster says that it probably never will be again, either. However, it was a big success when staged last year under his direction in the auditorium of Long Beach Polytechnic high school.

Comedy Offered

"The Playgoers" is the title of a comedy by Arthur Pinero which will either follow or precede the manslaughter episode. The futility of trying to uplift the lower classes will be demonstrated. A perfectly good invitation to attend "a theater" will be neglected because of discussion, argument, and debate over "the theater."

The cast for this sketch will be as follows: Morgan N. Smith and Miss Aileen Renison, Mister and Missus; Miss Wilhelmina Hobush, parlor-janitor; Miss Anna S. Elam, calorie expert; Miss Mildred Veazey, kitchen mechanic; Mrs. Ethel H. Moyse, house mechanic; Howard L. Butterfield, Handy Andy; Miss Mary E. Creath, as "Come Here."

Hist! Dark Mystery

The deep, dark mystery of the program is the identity of Leland Bruce, who is booked as "a professional actor," although it is admitted that he will perform some somewhat unprofessional antics such as making the entire audience laugh at one time. He will interpret a characterization monolog called "The Station Master." He says, however, that this is only its title. He guarantees that it won't have any reference to stations, railroads, schoolmasters, baggagemasters or depot.

Mrs. Charles M. Parker is booked for a group of Irish and a group of Japanese songs. She will appear in costume and will be accompanied by Mrs. Dora L. Gibson.

A mind reading demonstration will be given by Eugene Wolfe and Howard L. Butterfield—although it has not been admitted as to which will read whose mine and if so, why.

Tuesday Afternoon Club Gives Program Tonight

Glendalians are to have another part in furnishing the new Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, if they attend the concert to be given tonight in the clubhouse auditorium by Flora Myers Engel, soprano; Calmon Lubovi-ski, violinist; and Brahm Van Den Berg. The artists are appearing in Glendale through the courtesy of the Fitzgerald Music company of Los Angeles, and the affair is to augment the fund the music section pledged for purchasing a Knabe grand piano for the clubhouse.

Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator of the music section, arranged the concert with the Fitzgerald people and the program promises to be one of the big musical events of the year in Glendale.

Preceding the program the club officer and members of the Music Section will receive in the lounge room and those attending the concert will have an opportunity to visit all parts of the club's new home.

Henry Ford Urges Business Run Like Home Is Conducted

DETROIT, March 22.—Within twenty years industry will have grown to such vast proportions that "big business" of today will be small in comparison, according to opinion expressed by Henry Ford in a review of conditions and a prophecy for the future.

Mr. Ford is an optimist. But he believes that investment in a concern merely for the sake of profits is "bad business." Outside capital, Ford declared, interferes with industrial progress. Money paid out in dividends, he believes, should go back into the business to improve and expand it.

A man should run his business just as he runs his home, the famous motor car manufacturer said.

Ford thinks that within five years or so most of the railways will be electrified. He revealed that he intends to construct a model highway paralleling the Toledo & Ironton railroad which he bought several years ago.

"Within twenty years industry will be so magnified that the big business of today will be small in comparison," was Ford's answer to the question, "what is industry coming to?"

Realty Men Figuring Profits From Oil Well

Members of the Glendale Realty board are working their pencils overtime today, trying to figure out the prosperity per barrel in the "Illustrated Review" well brought in on Signal Hill Tuesday night—the board being the proud possessor of three bona fide shares in this 3000-barrel producer.

As there are said to be several thousand shares out, and the royalty per share is given as that particular share's proportion of one-third of the net profits, numerous paper fortunes have been estimated as the Glendale Realty board's probable earnings—each of them at variance with the others.

Several violent headaches have already been reported, as a direct result of trying to solve this intriguing mathematical problem.

Dance Follows Public De Molay Installation

Public installation of the new De Molay officers is announced for 7:30 o'clock tonight, at the Masonic temple, 232 South Brand boulevard. Installation will be followed by a public dance, states Francis Read, master councilor-elect.

This is the second installation since the organization of this chapter of De Molay in September of 1922. At that time it had a charter membership of fifty but now includes eighty members in its ranks.

At the time of installation, there will be presentation of jewels to the officers and "letters patent" to the men, followed by a short musical program.

The installing officers will be James D. Thompson, retiring master councilor; Ira L. Vance, chairman of the advisory council, and Percy J. Priaulx and Joseph S. Thompson, both members of the advisory council.

Mrs. Mitchell Still in Serious Condition

Suffering intensely from the serious burns she received Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Edward H. Mitchell is in a serious condition at the Glendale Research hospital, reports stating that while she is holding her own, she had passed a bad night and her condition remains serious and without change.

Mrs. Mitchell was burned Tuesday afternoon when gasoline, in which she was washing gloves and other articles, became ignited and set her clothing on fire. The accident occurred in the garage of the Mitchell home at 623 North Isabel street.

Although conscious at times since the accident Mrs. Mitchell is unable to tell how the fire started.

Her mother and sister arrived this morning from Bakersfield.

Urges Drive to Cut Rising Sugar Prices

WASHINGTON, March 22. — An appeal to the public to join in a nation-wide effort to reduce sugar prices was sounded today by Representative Dallinger, Republican, of Massachusetts.

"Reduce the daily consumption of sugar, stop hoarding, break the sugar prices and crush the sugar speculators," urged Dallinger as an effective means to curb the ascending price of sugar.

REVEAL PLAN FOR PARK AT GLENOAKS

City of Glendale Receives Tract; Number of Guests Present at Barbecue

The Frank Meline company, selling agents for the Glenoaks Syndicate, owners of over 700 acres lying east of Glendale, were hosts to the members of the Glendale Realty Board, the Eagle Rock Realty Board, and to many other citizens of Glendale, including Mayor Spencer Robinson and his official family at a barbecue at the tract yesterday, when Charles T. Tryon, one of the owners of the land, outlined the plans that he and his partner, John R. Powers, have formed for the development of the property. Mr. Tryon told of the gift to the city of Glendale of a two-acre site to be used as a park, which is to include a wonderful grove of live oaks and that will have four tennis courts laid out at the expense of the Glenoaks Syndicate before it is turned over to the city.

The Glenoaks tract lies in a valley, surrounded on almost every side by high, densely-wooded hills, and, besides the thousands of live oaks from which the property takes its name, it has hundreds of apricot and other fruit trees that are now in bloom, shedding their fragrance throughout the valley and showering their pink and white petals earthward through the warm spring air like a benediction.

Shortly after the arrival of the guests at the west end of the tract they were led on one of the many trails through the oak trees to the site of the park, where long tables had been spread under the shade, where Fred Ramirez and his aides had prepared a barbecue luncheon that was perfect in every detail.

Jabs Injunctionists

Following the luncheon Mayor Spencer Robinson told of the pleasure that he felt at receiving the gift from the Glenoaks Syndicate of the park site, adding that he also congratulated everyone present at the realization that none of the people who have such a habit of starting injunction suits every time the city tries to get something, were numbered among the guests. Mayor Robinson expressed the gratitude of the city for the $8000 clubhouse that is to be a part of the syndicate's gift, for the tennis courts, and for the park itself, and to the Frank Meline company for the generous luncheon that had been provided, assuring the owners of the tract and their agents of the hearty co-operation of Glendale in every possible way to make their association with Glendale and its citizens a pleasant and profitable one.

City Manager W. H. Reeves stated that, while many people had at times tried to hand Glendale something, it was a rare occasion when anyone tried to give the city anything, and he also praised the spirit of the Glenoaks Syndicate and the Frank Meline company for their foresight and their generosity in presenting Glendale with what he prophesied would shortly become one of the beauty spots of Southern California. He urged the cultivation of a forward-looking spirit, necessary to realize the needs of the city as they will be in a few years from now, and he concluded his remarks with a strong plea for support of the proposed bond issue of $65,000 for the purchase of the municipal aviation field, to be voted on at the election scheduled for April 10th.

Government Wants Airport

Mr. Reeves stated that he had been assured that the government is desirous of using the Glendale aviation field for its army flyers, and as this will be the only municipal flying field in California, if not in the entire west, it is essential, he declared, that every loyal citizen of Glendale turn out and vote for the bonds at the election.

GIVES VIVID PICTURE OF RUSSIA

Baroness Would Deport All Red Agitators Urging Overthrow of U. S.

"I would take all foreign revolutionists in the United States and put special delivery stamps on their backs and send them back to where they came from, and as for dissatisfied Americans, I would take them on a little educational trip through Russia." Such was the declaration of Baroness Otillie de Ropp of 520 South Brand boulevard in addressing the Glendale Union High School Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon on "Russia Before and After the War and an Appreciation of America."

As a background for her address, Baroness de Ropp gave a word picture of her life in Russia. She told of her youth in Petrograd and of the ideas she and her sisters and brother cherished about America. While her family traveled over all parts of Europe, they always listened with interest to the adventurous tales of America and always had a great desire to see this country.

After the German invasion in 1915 the de Ropp estate was seized and destroyed and Baroness de Ropp and her husband decided to come to America, especially to investigate the schools. However, when they reached the Russian frontier in the fall of 1915 they found that they had too much money, that they would only be allowed to leave with 500 rubles, amounting to $165. But they were undaunted and left for America, arriving in New York with $135.

Enforced Economy

"Every foreigner has the idea that when he arrives in America he will find a fine job awaiting him," said Baroness de Ropp, "but such is not the case. My husband and I knew six languages, but these did not help us any. We had no references and therefore we had to live for a while on our $135. We started in to economize on food, living on five cents a day, our menu was usually oatmeal, oatmeal, oatmeal, with sometimes plain rye bread, potatoes, lard, rice and tea."

In continuing her story, Baroness de Ropp told of securing her first position, with a salary of seventy-five dollars a month, which permitted them to raise their living expenses to ten cents a day. Later she and her husband both secured positions with Russian commissions and they then earned $220 a month between them.

"We had plenty of education but it was not practical," said the Baroness. "My husband had owned a large farm, so we went to Springfield, Mass., and went to live on a farm. It was very hard work for us, but my husband worked hard on the farm and I drove a milk wagon. This experience demonstrated to us the wonderful democratic spirit of the American people. Educated people in Europe before the war were supposed to work with their brains but not with their hands. But our work on the Massachusetts farm did not lower us among our friends, who were numbered among the best educated people of Sprpingfield."

From the farm Baron de Ropp came west and the Baroness served as head of a sewing department in an almshouse until she came to California.

Tells of Russia

In her talk yesterday she took her audience on a tour through Russia. She told of the primitive means of transportation, of the bad roads and crude bridges. She sketched Russia as a country without any desert land, a coun-

Cuno Declares He Will Not Beg France For Ruhr Settlement

BERLIN, March 22.—"I shall never beg France for negotiations for a Ruhr settlement," declared Chancellor Cuno of Germany, today in the first comprehensive interview he has granted since the French invaded the Ruhr in June.

"I shall make no new offer nor proposal to France so long as the French hold the bayonet at Germany's throat and grinds her brutal, military heel on the economic heart of our fatherland, meanwhile trying to extort from us promises which we could never keep.

"What I promised will be fulfilled. Premier Poincare himself blocked all avenues towards offers and negotiations. He said: 'I do not want to negotiate. I do not want intervention. Germany must come to me first and make unconditional surrender.'

"Now what does that mean? It means that Poincare wants Germany to come to him like a naughty child—the infant terrible that has been spanked and begs for forgiveness and that says penitently: 'I will never do it again.'

"That is the basis to which Poincare has reduced the whole political situation."

Don H. Webb Tells His Campaign Slogan

"Elect a Business Man to Help Run the City's Business," is the greeting to Glendalians of Don H. Webb of 604 North Kenwood street and member of the Glendale Hardware Company, who has announced himself a candidate for the Glendale City Council.

Mr. Webb came to Glendale in 1912 from Storm Lake, Iowa. Upon his arrival he went to work for the Glendale Hardware Company, which was purchased in 1917 by his father, James Webb. He has since assisted his father in conducting the business.

Don H. Webb is a member of the Glendale Elks, the Masons, the Chamber of Commerce, the Credit Association and secretary of the Kiwanis Club.

"I'm all for Glendale," says Mr. Webb, "I guess I've lived here long enough to prove that I like Glendale and am for the city's best interests."

Explains Reasons for Men's Church Clubs

The Men's Club of the St. Mark's Episcopal church enjoyed the inspiring talk given them last night by W. N. Howard, of Prince-Waterman & company, Los Angeles. The occasion was the regular monthly meeting of the club, held in the guild hall of the church, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Howard brought out clearly the reason for men's clubs in the churches, stating that such organizations are just as important in their field as are Rotary Kiwanis, Exchange and other business men's clubs in theirs.

Spiritual as well as material organization is necessary, was the significant thought Mr. Howard left in the minds of his audience of eighteen men.

The next meeting of the club will be the third Wednesday night in April.

Plaintiffs Ask Delay In Injunction Suit

The hearing on the request for an injunction to restrain the city administration from making any more payments on the purchase of Verdugo park and the airport this morning was postponed by Judge Arthur Keetch of the superior court until April 13.

A request for the continuance is reported to have been made by Attorney Walter Haase of Los Angeles and Attorney John Everson of 103-A North Brand boulevard who represent George A. Montgomery of 500 Kenneth road and other filers of the petition for the injunction.

Spanish War Vets Favor Aviation Field

Glendale Camp No. 67, United Spanish War Veterans, L. D. Pike, senior vice commander and Samuel Warren, adjutant, last night unanimously passed a resolution indorsing the action of the City Council in purchasing a municipal aviation field and at the same time condemned as "unpatriotic" the action of those "who would seek to prevent our people and our government from making use of this field." The camp pledged support of the bond issue to secure the field.

ENTRIES FOR MUNICIPAL HANDICAP AT POST

Sixteen Voting Places Are Selected for Election to Be Held April 10

SEVEN citizens are now candidates for the two vacancies in the City Council to be filled April 10 at the municipal election. In addition to the four candidates already in the field, three new ones presented nominating petitions to City Clerk A. J. Van Wie yesterday just before the deadline.

Candidates are Frank Booth, 111 South Kenwood street; S. S. Gilhuly, 342 El Bonita street; A. H. Lapham, 415 West Broadway; Don H. Webb, 604 North Kenwood street; W. A. Horn, 221 North Louise street; Allen O. Martin, 640 West Lexington drive; and Asa Hall, 636 North Louise street. Petitions from the last three were presented yesterday. Mr. Lapham is a candidate for re-election.

No opposition has been offered to Dr. P. O. Lucas of 115 South Verdugo road, and Mrs. Nettie C. Brown of 201 Milford street, who are candidates to succeed themselves on the grammar school board of education.

Albert D. Pearce is a candidate for the one vacancy on the Glendale Union high school board.

Ballots will enable local voters to express their opinions upon five charter amendments, a bond issue involving $40,500 for the purchase of the airport, and a resolution empowering the city administration to sell a clubhouse site to the American legion for $100.

Sixteen Precincts

The city of Glendale has been divided into sixteen precincts for this election. These consist of combinations of the official precincts as established by the county board of supervisors. For the school election Casa Verdugo has been made into an extra precinct. Garages will be used in most cases as polling places. Election places and officials will be as follows:

Mrs. S. Mosier of Redondo Beach was a visitor in this city yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. M. Pomeroy of 1212 East Windsor road.

Miss Velma Murphy of 200 West Laurel was a member of a Los Angeles High school party which enjoyed a hike to Monrovia Canyon last Sunday. Miss Murphy is a member of the senior class.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly and two daughters, Marjorie and Rosemary, of 342 El Bonita, and Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Oldham and daughter, Dorothy, of 344 West Mira Loma, motored to Venice last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ball of 363 West Elk street, entertained as dinner guests last evening, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wirz and Mr. and Mrs. L. Wirz of Pasadena. The two Mr. Wirz are nephews of Mr. Ball's and are soon leaving for the north to make their home.

Mrs. H. C. Nicholas of 337 West Wilson avenue was the guest Saturday at a St. Patrick's luncheon given by Mrs. Charles Priddy of Los Angeles. There were fourteen ladies present, all members of a small social club. The next meeting will be held at Hermosa beach at the home of Mrs. Allen Oustenhoff on April 3.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barshfield and Betty Jane of 1845 Vassar, returned to their home last evening after having spent several days at San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Roger Bentley of 715 North Central avenue, will be the week-end guests of Mrs. Bentley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Smith at Long Beach.

Mrs. M. M. Morehouse and her daughter, Miss Bernie Morehouse of 1000 East Lomita avenue, motored to Pasadena yesterday, where they visited at the home of Mrs. Arthur Goodwin.

Mrs. R. L. Holland of 518 Kenneth road will entertain at a luncheon Friday at the Sunset club in honor of Mrs. Frank Houston of Missouri, who has been spending the winter in Southern California.

J. Wileman of 1300 East Garfield avenue left several days ago for Arosi, where he expected to spend two weeks visiting with friends and relatives. Mr. Wileman is a former resident of the northern town.

Mr. and Mrs. John Peebles and family of 126 North Cedar street were dinner guests last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs Will Haines of Los Angeles. The two families were formerly neighbors in Paris, Canada.

C. M. Pomeroy of 1212 East Windsor road left Tuesday on a two months' business trip to Fresno, Patterson, Modesto and various points in the San Joaquin valley. The entire trip will be made via automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Horn of 221 North Louise street entertained as dinner guests Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Raymond and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Raymond, who have recently come from Buffalo, N. Y., to make their home in Los Angeles.

John L. Redfearn and two daughters, Jennie and Marie of New London, Iowa, are visiting for several days, Mr. Redfearn's sister, Mrs. Jennie Steele of 334 North Central avenue. Mr. Redfearn and daughters have been wintering at Long Beach.

C. L. Syphers of 105 South Belmont street motored to Santa Monica late yesterday afternoon and returned with his wife and Mrs. Daisy Chadwick of Portland, Ore., who have been spending a few days at Dr. Henry R. Harrower's bungalow on Palisades beach.

Mrs. Lillian Grigsby and daughter, Miss Amelia Grigsby, recently arrived in southern California from their home in Pueblo, Colo., are spending several days this week visiting at the home of Mrs. Grigsby's sister-in-law, Mrs. J. A. Grigsby of North Brand boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ball of Los Angeles will be the week-end guests of Mr. Ball's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ball, 363 West Elk street. Mr. and Mrs. William Ball have been residing in Glendale until a week ago when they moved to Los Angeles to make their home.

Mrs. P. H. Carter of Indianapolis, Ind., who is visiting her niece and nephew, Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Baldwin of 452 Milford street, was the recent guest of Mrs. Oscar Bunch of Beverly drive, Los Angeles. Last Sunday, Mrs. Carter and F. G. Baldwin were guests at the Mission Inn, Riverside.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hampton, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fry, 333 West Cerritos, left for their home in Chicago the first of the week. While here they purchased an auto and will tour home by way of the Grand Canyon, visiting friends in Orange, Tex. They expect to return to California in about two months to make their permanent home.

Mrs. Stella Goodman of 645 North Central avenue had a pleasant surprise recently when she found that some one had stocked her gold fish pond with a number of beautiful fantails of different varieties. She is anxious to find the donor and express her appreciation. Mrs. Goodman had been disappointed in not being able to find these rare fantails in the city and is very happy over the little surprise, evidently planned by some interested friend.

Vernon Snively of 106 East Maple avenue left Tuesday on the steamer Yale for San Francisco where he expects to spend from three to six months. Since being appointed to the internal revenue service he has been connected with the income tax department. He has been sent north to continue in the government service in internal revenue by audit. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Snively, accompanied him to San Pedro where he embarked for the northern city.

Local Bowlers Lose To Ocean Park Team

The Glendale Gateway team lost to the Ocean Park aggregation by a narrow margin, in a fast bowling match last night at the Glendale Recreation center, 133 North Brand boulevard, the final tally being Ocean Park 2710, Glendale Gateway 2615.

The highest single game was bowled by May, of the visitors, who put down 241 pins at one session, while Covell, of the local team, rolled up the tallest total three-game tally, 585.

A picked team from the Pacific Electric railway, Los Angeles, will bowl the Glendale team at the Recreation center Friday night, announces Manager Peter Neise, and an interesting contest is expected.

Social Events

All Day Session

Glendale Presbyterian church women met yesterday at the church for an all-day session. There were 140 women present for the morning meeting, the luncheon and afternoon session.

In the morning Mrs. Fred Hagan, for seventeen years a missionary in Japan, spoke on "Japan."

Later reports were given on the past year. The women have sent two boxes of donations to the Tuscon Indian Training school, one box to a hospital in China; they have more than paid their missionary pledge of $1400; have given a thank offering of $166.07; have secured a $35 membership in the Freedman's board under the name of Mrs. Z. L. Hesse.

Reports on the recent Presbyterial meeting were given by Mesdames A. B. Clapp, David Black and J. A. Newton.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock by Circle G, led by Mrs Stadt.

Officers were installed by Rev. W. E. Edmonds and after a vocal solo by Miss Pansy Sheldon the women adjourned to attend the Hadden meeting.

Social Club Meets

Mrs. Ella Richardson of 317 North Brand boulevard was hostess yesterday afternoon to the members of the Eastern Star Social club. She was assisted by Mrs. Ida Snyder, Mrs. Anna Fife and Mrs. Minnie Hogue.

This was an all-day meeting with a St. Patrick's luncheon served by the hostesses at noon. All the decorations were carried out in the Irish colors, with orange and green ribbons marking the places for the guests.

During the afternoon, Frank Booth sang several selections which were greatly enjoyed and Miss Mabel Todd rendered several whistling solos.

Following the program the rest of the afternoon was spent in sewing on garments for needy mothers and aprons which the club are getting ready for sale.

The proceeds of this luncheon were given toward the fund for the purchase of the De Molay's robes.

Evening of Cards

Mrs. Roberta T. Young and Mrs. Virginia Freeman were again hostesses Tuesday evening for the benefit of the piano fund of the Tuesday Afternoon Club at the home of Mrs. Freeman's brother, G. B. Cooper, 404 West Harvard street.

During the evening Five-Hundred was played after which refreshments were served by the hostesses. Miss Alta Arnold won first prize and Mrs. Kottmeier consolation. Roscoe Steele was awarded the prize for men's high score.

Those present were Mrs. Holden, and Miss Vogt of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Kottmeier, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Steele, George Cooper, Tom Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grisham, Mrs. Louis T. Young, Mrs. Lillian Montgomery, Mrs. Kennedy, Mr. Jarrett, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bird, and the hostesses, Mrs. Roberta T. Young and Mrs. Virginia Freeman.

Reading Circle

At the regular meeting of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle yesterday at the Public Library, it was announced that the circle now has seventy-seven members.

Mrs. H. V. Henry, vice chairman, presided at the meeting yesterday. In the morning Mrs. C. L. Vierick gave a review of an article on "High Opinions of One's Self."

In the contest in answer to the roll call with quotations, honors were awarded yesterday to the last half of the alphabet, for a record of 100 per cent with quotations.

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Pomeroy were appointed members of the tea committee for April. Mrs. E. B. Moore was appointed to represent the circle at the auxiliary meeting of the children's hospital.

There will be no meeting of the circle next week, the next meeting to take place April 4.

Entertains Class

The Eight A class which numbers eighty pupils at the Glendale Avenue Intermediate school enjoyed a special treat Wednesday just at the closing hour when Alec Mcdougall and Davinia Woods gave a short program of Scotch numbers for their entertainment. Davinia danced the sword dance and the "Chartreuse" to the acompaniment of the bagpipes. Alec also gave a special number on his pipes. They were in full Scotch costume, Davinia wearing the Wallace plaid and Alec the Leslie plaid. The class is engaged in the study of the Lady of the Lake in the course in literature and the program was instructive as well as pleasing to these students of Scotch life.

Hostess at Tea

Mrs. Naylor Rogers of 734 South Maryland avenue entertained Monday with a prettily appointed six o'clock tea in honor of her niece Patricia Thrall. Bright yellow jonquils decorated the table, making a lovely contrast to the dainty appointments which were all in Irish green. The place cards were Irish pipes, and the color also used in the menu. The evening was devoted to games. The guests were Barbara Hammersley, Madelon Duryea, Shirley and Virginia Nisson, Peggy Weisenheimer, Helen Stanley, Robert Rogers and the honoree.

Hostess Friday

Mrs. T. B. Curtis of 727 East Palmer avenue, is to be hostess Friday afternoon at an informal social affair for the benefit of the Glendale Avenue Intermediate Parent-Teacher Association. The affair will begin at 2 o'clock.

Regular Meeting

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Broadway Methodist church was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Green of 1447 East Colorado boulevard. Rev. E. E. Dickie, recently returned missionary from the interior of Brazil, was the principal speaker of the occasion, his subject being "The Duties of a Foreign Missionary."

Mrs. Jerry Jeter, wife of the evangelist who will begin services in this city next Tuesday, was introduced to the members during the afternoon. She responded with a brief talk, urging the co-operation of the women of the church in the coming tabernacle services.

Prior to adjournment the women were served with several courses of delicious refreshments by Mrs. Green and her mother, Mrs. Rose Black.

With Mrs. Barton

Tuesday Afternoon club board members met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. A. Barton at 318 East Mountain avenue. The club program for the next two months was discussed and plans made concerning the use of the clubhouse.

Announcement was made of the district convention the first week in April at San Luis Obispo. Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president, is to attend as a representative of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mrs. Campbell went to Eagle Rock today to attend the reciprocity luncheon of the Twentieth Century club. Tomorrow Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, past president, will go to Huntington Park to attend the presidents' conference of the Los Angeles District.

Aid Gathering

The Ladies' Aid society of the Central Avenue Methodist church, of which Mrs. Amanda Ostergard is president, held an "Experience Social," in the social hall on Tuesday night when each member related her experience in earning a dollar for the society treasury. These proved very amusing. About fifty members and guests were present.

St. Patrick's day was celebrated with the "Wearin' of the Green," as each guest was presented with a shamrock which was pinned on at the door. An informal program consisting of Irish jokes and songs was given. Miss Emily Kopp and Mrs. B. S. Moore gave vocal numbers and all joined in the games and charades. Coffee and sandwiches and little shamrock cakes were served by the hostess committee.

Live In Glendale

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Cheney of San Diego and more recently of San Bernardino, were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Meeker for the week-end. Mr. and Mrs Cheney have purchased the Wineger house on Fisher street and will make their home in Glendale.

Mr. Cheney is one of the best-known hotel men in Southern California, having at one time been manager of the Mission Inn at Riverside, and also manager of the Coronado for sixteen years.

Mr. Cheney has been prominent in club circles in San Diego and was on the state board as chairman of the Arts and Crafts department, and will be a welcome addition to the club life of Glendale.

Present Program

The J. O. C. Class of the First Methodist Episcopal church will present a very interesting program at the church, Friday, March 23, at 8 o'clock. Keauloku A. Lewis, the popular baritone, will appear on the program assisted by Miss Mildred Pray at the piano and one of his youngest pupils, Jack Easton. The Hawaiian Duo will render melodies of old Hawaii, and several selections on steel guitars.

As this is a benefit program, a silver offering will be taken at the close of the concert.

Study Club Meets

Mrs. H. R. Rockwell was hostess Monday evening to the members of the Wild Flower Study club, at her home, 1254 South Maryland avenue. Two new members were taken into the club, Mrs. Gans and Miss Helen Harvey of Verdugo Woodlands.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Gallup, 1301 South Central avenue, Tuesday evening, March 27. All those interested in the study and preservation of wild flowers are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Loyal Women Meet

"The Loyal Women," of the Central Christian Sunday school of which Mrs. C. E. Archer is president and Mrs. Eva Hutton is teacher held a St. Patrick's day party, recently at the home of Mrs. A. K. Crawford, 301 North Cedar street. There were about thirty-five present and a very delightful informal program had been prepared by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Shropshire and Mrs. Legett. "Green" tea and cake were the appropriate refreshments.

Benefit for Club

A company of sixty-four invited guests will attend a card party Friday afternoon, March 23, at the new Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

The hostesses are Mesdames W. H. Boothby, Arthur H. Dibbern, George T. Smith and Edward Herring.

Bridge and five hundred will be played. The affair is a benefit, the proceeds to be devoted to the furnishing fund of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

P. E. O. Hostess

Mrs. Lillian Smits of 231 Milford street was hostess Tuesday afternoon to the members of Chapter AH, P. E. O. She was assisted by Mesdames B. Mabry, Mildred Wattles, J. H. Smith and Pollock.

Mrs. Elizabeth Straith-Miller, a well-known Seattle musician, who has recently established a studio in Glendale, delighted the members of the chapter with a group of songs. Mrs. Straith-Miller has a beautiful lyric soprano voice, and has sung in New York, London and Paris, and toured the Northwest as soloist with Charles Wakefield Cadman. It is hoped she will appear often in local musical circles.

Mary Louise Brown of the Pearl Keller School of Dancing gave two solo dances, the "Coquette," to McDowell's "To a Wild Rose," and "Spring" to Mendelssohn's "Spring Song." Miss Brown greatly delighted her audience.

Marjorie Jean Bailey delighted her hearers with a group of beautiful harp solos. Miss Bailey is a talented local high school girl.

Two saxophone solos by Howard Smits, accompanied by Avis Young on the piano, were also greatly enjoyed.

Following the musical program which had been arranged by Mrs. Wayne R. Smith and Mrs. Lillian Smits, the newly-elected president, Mrs. A. W. Beach presided at the business meeting.

Special guests were Mesdames Elizabeth Straith-Miller, A. L. Bancroft, C. L. Peckham, Seymour G. Smith and O. W. Andresen.

Section Meeting

Mesdames C. C. Carroll and F. J. Rogers were hostesses Tuesday afternoon at the meeting of the maids' and young matrons' section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club in the palm room of the new club house.

A very pleasing musical program presented by Mesdames John Cole and E. P. Hayward was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. A. M. Draper, who was to have a part in the program, was unable to be present on account of illness.

Following the program a social hour was enjoyed. At this time refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Church Worker Will Address Girls' Club

Mrs. Frances Neth, leader and teacher of the Girls' Corner club of the First Baptist church of Los Angeles and organizer of the Christian Circle club of this city, will address the members of the latter organization at its regular weekly meeting this evening at the Central Christian church on Colorado boulevard. The meeting will follow the supper, which will be served to the members and their friends at 5:45 o'clock.

Mrs. Neth's association with the Christian Circle club has been most interesting, she having established the organization two years ago in connection with the John Brown evangelistic services being held here at that time. The club was started by the staging of weekly "tea parties" for the high school girls of the city, and it was continued along that line for several months, when Mrs. Neth introduced the present plans of organization.

The first year all meetings were held in the First Baptist church on East Wilson avenue, while all of the activities this year have been staged at the Central Christian house of worship. Miss E. Maud Soper, of the English department of the local high school, has been instructor for the Bible study hour.

All young women of high school or college age are cordially invited to attend tonight's meeting or that of any other time.

Good Templars Will Meet at Wyckoff Home

The fortnightly meeting of the Glendale lodge of Good Templars will take place Friday night, at the home of the chief templar, William Wyckoff of 600 South Adams street. All members are urged to be present.

REDSKINS RALLY FOR LAST STAND

Chase of Renegade Piutes Nears End in Utah Rocky Mountains

MONTICELLO, Utah, March 22.—Far beyond the pale of civilization today was being enacted what may be America's last "wild west" drama.

The chase for the band of Piute Indians who climaxed twenty-five years of disagreement of the white settlers of San Juan county by openly defying the law and fleeing with two prisoners who had escaped from the sheriff, was believed drawing to a close in the hill country.

Only meagre information from the chase is trickling in from runners.

Four posse members believed missing have been found. They had wandered away on a lone hunt but later the trail they were following returned to that on which the main body was traveling.

The body of Joe Bishop's Boy, who was shot to death two days ago, has been found by the posse on Comb ridge, twenty miles west of Blanding. This was taken here to indicate that the whites were closing in on the Indians, as the body had apparently been dropped in flight. He was killed in a fight only a few miles from Blanding and his brother redskins had evidently endeavored to take his body with them.

Posse Is Reinforced

Strong reinforcements have been sent up from Blanding to the hill country, together with ammunition and food supplies to enable the posse to remain in the field for some time if necessary.

It is believed from the best information available that there are not more than a dozen Indians in the renegade band. In addition to Old Posey, the leader, other known members of the band are Sanup's Boy, Dutche's Boy, Charleit's Boy and Stubby's Boy.

Possibility existed today that the Indians are heading for what is known as Four Corners, forty miles from Bluff, where the corners of Utah, Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico join. In years gone by law-breakers have evaded arrest by the simple expedient of stepping into the state in which they were not wanted.

Carpet Workers Leap As Flames Threaten

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—Six girls leaped or swung from windows of the George W. Davis company yarn and carpet factory here yesterday fifteen feet to the ground when flames swept the building with an estimated loss of $100,000. They escaped injury. Three firemen were overcome.

Three-Fourths Verdicts Basking In Sunshine
Budget War Under Way
Billion Dollar Stream

By Gil A. Cowan

THREE-FOURTHS jury verdicts as proposed in a constitutional amendment now before the California legislature, seems to be meeting with hearty favor in all parts of the state.

It is one of several suggestions by the Los Angeles crime commission rising out of the need for strength in our criminal code. The program is not only worthy, but will for the most part be acceptable to the solons, the writer believes.

How nice it is to bask in the California sunshine here while the wires carry the report of loss of life, stock and property in the worst blizzard since 1888.

At the same time we can not help but reiterate our wish for a little more rain in the inland valleys of the state. A drouth at this time will do irreparable damage to the development of central and northern California, although long ago the southern section of the state learned how to get along without rain.

Glendale gets a great deal of publicity as the result of its aerial rodeo, and well may the city look forward to being the center for development of aviation in the great Southwest. It is here that climatic conditions are ideal for the flying schools, manufacture and testing of machines, etc.

Fur began to fly in the budget battle at the state capitol, according to correspondents, when consideration of the education department got under way.

Mark Keppel, county superintendent of Los Angeles schools, was among the many noted in the lobby.

We must give the teachers credit that if they are as efficient in teaching as they are in lobbying our schools are a great success.

The International News Service says that a billion dollars have poured into European coffers each year since the armistice in November, 1918, a tabulation by the office of Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger revealed.

Since 1914, the beginning of the war, Europe has benefited to the total extent of over $21,000,000,000.

These figures represent the extent of America's "interest in international affairs." Some $16,000,000,000 is accounted for by the $10,000,000,000 war loan, interest on that loan approximating two billions, and three odd billions expended at the outbreak of the war in repurchasing American securities.

Over five billion dollars, however, have been advanced by the great "American world bank" since the armistice, all of which have gone directly to the rehabilitation and refinancing of the world. This money has gone as extensions of foreign credits; for purchase of foreign securities and foreign currency and in numerous other ways.

The helping hand was extended to Europe after the war in 1919—that is, aside from relief loans calling for food, clothing and other supplies. In the winter of that year the federal reserve bank found the banks of the reserve system were holding "frozen credits," reaching the three billion mark. The board then ordered that this non-liquid paper be taken in by the exporters and their member banks who were the original holders and endorsers. While this step cleaned the skirts of the reserve banks, it left the paper on the hands of the member banks. This action, therefore, represented an actual loan rather than an extension of temporary credits, as most of this paper is still in the hands of those banks.

Evangelist Tells of God's Nearness

At the Glendale Presbyterian church last evening, Dr. Robert A. Hadden spoke on "How To Walk With God," basing his remarks on that wonderful Old Testament character Enoch.

In a day when right thinking and living were most unpopular Enoch faced the awful struggle almost alone. In all Scripture eight short verses contain the record of this man's lonely struggle for God.

Walking with God is not only an earthly experience but a deeply blessed spiritual experience as well. By nature we are far from God.

Christ died on Calvary that He might bring us to God. He brings deity and humanity close together. Enoch had an abiding consciousness of the nearness of God. We too, may have the fullest consciousness of God's presence with us as we walk the streets, or mingle with our fellows. At any time or place we may commune with him.

At the service this afternoon Dr. Hadden spoke on "The Problem of the Incarnation." He answered some such questions as these: Did deity become related to humanity? Was the virgin birth the divine design and accomplishment? Does the incarnation possess distinctive value to man? At the afternoon service on Friday Dr. Hadden will speak on the "Problem of the Intermediate State."

SCOUTS TO GIVE SNAPPY PROGRAM

Huge Community Rally in Eagle Rock Planned For Tonight

Eagle Rock citizens are to have a real treat tonight, when the big community rally for the Boy Scouts will be staged. A program that is both snappy and keenly interesting has been arranged by the program committee.

Troop No. 88, of Los Angeles, with its special jazz orchestra, will stage an exhibition of first aid to the injured and the Indian method of making fire by rubbing sticks.

The International Pine Tree Patrol drill by the Scouts of Troop No. 124, Los Angeles, will be given.

Message to Parents

Dennis H. Stovall, the nationally known traveler and author has a great message for every parent and citizen in Eagle Rock. Mr. Stovall is the Scoutmaster of the Sierra Madre Boy Scout Troop. Boys' work has been his hobby and writing books for boys his vocation.

This community rally is being sponsored by representative citizens of the city who are prominent in civic, social and religious life in the community. The purpose of the rally is to learn more of the Boy Scout program of character-development and citizenship-training, and in giving the boys of the city properly superivsed adult leadership during their leisure time.

Court Rules Maternity Law Constitutional

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The constitutionality of the Sheppard-Towner maternity law was upheld by Chief Justice Smyth of the District of Columbia court of appeals in affirming a decision of a lower court in refusing the petition of Mrs. Harriet A. Frothingham of Boston, who sought to have the act declared invalid. The matter will be taken to the United States supreme court for final adjudication.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—"Wet" and "dry" issue becomes paramount question in Ulster, writes Daniel O'Connell, Dublin correspondent.

TOMORROW—Adele Parker, Moscow correspondent, sends a column of miscellaneous news notes from the Russian city.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, March 22. — The "wets" vs. "drys" issue threatens to become one of the most acute political questions that the Province of Ulster ever experienced. Both sides have coats off and are going right ahead. The "wets" will win easily, the chief of their organization will tell you. The "drys" are equally optimistic.

If money counts the "wets" will win. The rich brewers and the large distillers of the north of Ireland have put their hands down into their purses and are spending money like water in order to defeat the contemplated temperance legislation. No novelty in advertising, nothing is too expensive to attract crowds to meetings and to spread booze propaganda. Whole pages of newspapers are bought up each day. Every dead wall and poster space in Belfast is crammed with "wet" literature.

The latest novelty to be introduced is the radio broadcasting of the "wet" meetings. Twice a week the anti-temperance people have arranged the broadcasting of their meetings from powerful wireless sets. To make the thing more attractive to the listener-in music is provided before and after.

The "wets" have one great plank in their platform and that is the evil of moonshine. Ulster is notorious for illicit spirits. Since Christmas alone twenty-five deaths have occurred from this traffic. The bootlegging game is a profitable one, and heavy fines fail to stop the practice. One bootlegger, who was fined $250, was caught again the following week and fined $500, and two days later he was again caught at the game. Superintendent of Police McManus, the bootleggers' chief enemy, says that at first he was actuated by a desire to protect the revenue, but from what had come to his knowledge this was now only a very secondary motive in comparison with the protection of the people themselves—men, women and children.

The police say that the moonshine is driving even women and children mad. A few weeks ago a man in Donegal, returning home from a moonshine spree, killed his wife and was hanged for the crime. Another on the same night died from the results of liquor taken at a party.

The "wets" maintain that if Ulster goes "dry" the illicit spirits will spread, with terrible results. Moonshine, they say, can be easily smuggled over the Free State frontier into Ulster. That is very srue, and the Ulster Parliament cannot afford the money to maintain a frontier police force to protect it. The "wets" undoubtedly score here, but for all that the "drys" stand a good chance to win because of the backing of the women's vote.

The "Temporary" Repair Job

Fortune Is Often Kind, But It's Foolish to Tempt Providence

Did you ever make an emergency repair on the road or at other times when too much in a hurry to do the job right? If so, didn't you promise yourself that you would have the makeshift replaced with a first rate permanent repair? Did you make good, or did you leave the thing "hanging by the gills?" If the latter, it is bound to let go pretty soon and most likely on a dark, rainy night when you are far from a garage. How about that headlight wire which short-circuited the other evening and which you patched up by winding it with string? What have you ever done about that wire which broke off at the clip and which you reconnected by winding its bared end around the binding-post which you could not get at with the pliers? Do you recall the bolt which you lost and which you had to replace with one a little too small, which you picked up at a hardware store? The bolt which is now on the road some where, was an accurately sized one of alloy steel cut with the fine thread, while the substitute was a crude stock bolt with the coarse thread and a constant tendency to work loose. By the way, did you pin the nut or did you trust to luck? When that lower radiator hose connection went bad and threatened to empty the radiator, you made it hold water again by wrapping tape around it, but don't flatter yourself that this is going to "stay put" forever. You were, indeed, lucky to get home on that casing, which has the fabric break in it, by using an inside blowout patch and cemented patches on the tube but don't forget about it or think that it is going to hold eternally. Here is a suggestion; Look your own car over thoroughly and if you find any temporary repair that is being permanently relied upon, have it replaced by a substantial job.

Ammeter Is In Trouble.

O. W. B. writes: The hand of my ammeter doesn't move, when the engine is running or when lights are switched on, and is apparently stuck on the charge side, but the starter and lights work all right. Is there any harm in running with it in this condition and what about getting it repaired?

Answer: You had better send it back to the concern that made it and ask them to repair or to replace it, whichever would be the cheaper. You will find that it has two binding screws on the back of the instrument board with one wire connected to one of these and probably two connected to the other. These three wires should be disconnected and then connected together firmly by wrapping a copper wire tightly around them and taping the joint, making a note as to which terminal each wire was connected. You can then remove the ammeter by loosening the bolts which hold it. There will be no harm in running the car without it, but you will, of course, not be able to tell whether the battery is being charged, except as you can infer this by the gravity of the liquid in its cells.

Too Viscous Oil and Overheating

G. S. writes: In the instruction book, which came with my car, it is stated that the use of too heavy engine oil is one cause of overheating and as my engine gets hotter than it should, I am wondering if this is the cause of it.

Answer: This is a very unusual reason to give for an engine's overheating. If oil is so heavy that it fails to distribute, abnormal friction and heat would, of course be developed, but such a condition would not be likely to continue for any considerable length of time in practice. Some power is consumed and some heat developed in the internal work absorbed in "churning" a very very heavy oil, but the heat thus set free would in practice, be negligible as compared with the heat present in an engine from other sources, although it is sometimes important in the case of a transmission. Too thin or watery oil, which permits metal-to-metal contact of moving parts, is much more likely to be the cause of excessive frictional heat than very viscous oil. It is much more likely that your overheating is attributable to defects in the cooling system or to a late spark.

RADIO DEVELOPMENT

By LIEUT JOHN R. IRWIN
U. S. AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

TUNING A RECEIVER

The next procedure in preparing to tune in signals is to ascertain if the crystal is working on a good point. Finding the sensitive point on a crystal detector is not such a terribly difficult matter. There is only one satisfactory way to do it and that requires a small outlay in the purchase of a "buzzer" and a dry cell battery. One adjusting screw on the vibrator.

Some of the more elaborate sets sold complete incorporate this arrangement and provide a push button to operate the buzzer, but we will assume that your set is not so provided for. This buzzer can be made a permanent arrangement by a little ingenuity if you are mechanically inclined, or it may be a portable arrangement, as follows:

All that is needed is a small buzzer (they are especially designed for this work), a dry cell and a short length of wire. All these can be obtained for a couple of dollars, and the results obtained are well worth the money. The two terminals on the buzzer are attached by short lengths of wire to the two terminals of the dry cell. If the buzzer does not operate at once, turn the small adjusting screw on the vibrator to either the right or left, so that the tension on the spring is increased, as the occasion demands. This varies the note of the buzzer, also, and a shrill musical note is preferable. As soon as the buzzer is operating satisfactorily, attach a short piece of insulated wire to the terminal of the buzzer—a couple of feet should suffice—and hang it adjacent to the secondary coil of your receiver.

Now, with the buzzer going, listen in on your set, vary the contact of your crystal up and down the surface of the mineral until you hear the loudest "buzzes" in the telephones. These should be quite clear and distinct. This spot then is the most sensitive point on the crystal.

In the above operation, it is not necessary to vary the tuning of the set in any way; only the crystal contact should be altered. The buzzer should be some three feet away from the set, but the wire brought nearer or varied by a little experiment. After the crystal is adjusted, the buzzer tester may be removed until needed again. For ease in testing a push button or switch is easily installed.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

HIGH FREQUENCY BUZZER

This buzzer has been designed for both laboratory and radio use. It combines pureness of tone, simplicity of adjustment and durability.

The frequency is approximately 800 cycles, but depends on the setting of the knurled adjusting screw. As the current required for the operation of the buzzer is approximately only 30 milli-amperes, it may be operated for long periods of time from small batteries. One dry cell will provide sufficient potential to operate this buzzer satisfactorily.

One of the noteworthy features of this buzzer is its freedom from sparking. This is important where pure tones are required. This feature makes the buzzer particularly adapted as a supply source for bridge measurements and for continuous wave telegraph modulation.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND SUSIE'S RIBBON

"Mother, I need a new hair ribbon," said Susie, the rabbit girl, to Mrs. Littletail one morning. "I'd like a nice, new, red, hair ribbon."

"Very well, Susie," said Mrs. Littletail. "This is a fine day, there is no school and you may go down to the five and six cent store and buy yourself a new ribbon."

"Oh, joy!" cried Susie, and she clapped her paws in glee. "You are so good to me, mother!" and she kissed her mother right between the ears, which is always the best place to kiss a rabbit.

Soon Susie was hopping on her way to the store. It was a bright sunshiny day—a trifle too much wind, perhaps, but one must expect that in March. As Susie was passing the home of Mrs. Wibblewobble, the lady duck, Mrs. Wibblewobble called:

"Where are you going, Susie, my dear?"

"I am going to the store to get myself a new hair ribbon," answered Susie.

"Then I wish you'd get one each for Lulu and Alice," quacked the lady duck. "They need new ribbons, and here is the money. Bring them red ones."

"Just the color I am going to get for myself," said Susie.

She hopped on a little further and Mrs. Wagtail, the goat lady, finding out what the rabbit girl was going after, said:

"I wish you'd bring Nannie a hair ribbon. She wants a red one."

"Just what I am going to get for myself, and for Lulu and Alice Wibblewobble" laughed Susie "I'll get one for Nannie, also."

Well, to make a long story short, before Susie had reached the hair ribbon store half a dozen of the animal ladies, seeing her, had asked the rabbit child to bring some extra hair ribbons. So that when Susie went to pay for her ribbon she had to buy—oh, a dozen yards or more.

"I think I had better give the hair ribbons to you all in one piece," said the little mousie clerk in the store. "I'll give you a roll of red ribbon. You can carry that easier and your mother can cut it up into the right lengths for you and the other girls."

"Thank you," said Susie politely, and soon she was on her way home with the roll of red ribbon wrapped in paper. But, just as you would have done. Susie could could not help stopping on the way to open the package and look at the red ribbon.

"Oh, it's too sweet for anything!" sighed Susie. And just then the March wind blew an extra hard puff, lifted the roll of ribbon out of Susie's paws and carried it away, just like Tommie's kite.

"Oh, my ribbon! My ribbon!" cried poor Susie. Luckily she kept hold of one end of the ribbon, but the wind blew the roll of it away, unreeling it as it went along, and soon Susie saw, floating out from her a long red streamer. How it fluttered in the March wind.

"Oh, I must try to wind it up" said Susie. "I hope the ribbons won't be spoiled."

And just then along hopped Uncle Wiggily. He saw the red ribbon fluttering from Susie's paws and asked her what had happened. And when she told him the bunny rabbit said:

Don't cry, Susie. I'll help you wind up the ribbon on my rheumatism crutch, and it will be all right." So Uncle Wiggily began to help the little rabbit girl wind the red ribbon on his crutch, and just then, all of a sudden out from behind a bush jumped the Woozie Wolf howling:

"Oh, my ribbon!" cried poor Susie.

"I want ears to nibble!" But Uncle Wiggily, with a big roll of red ribbon sprang at the wolf, calling:

"Run away if you don't want your nose burned!" And the Wolf seeing the fluttering red ribbon, thought it was fire that would scorch him and away he ran, howling:

"Oh, don't burn my nose! Don't burn my nose!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily as he wound up on his crutch the last of the fluttering red ribbon, "we fooled the Wolf, Susie."

And so they had; so it is a good thing the wind blew the ribbon, making it look like fire; was it not? Then Susie's mother cut the long roll into short lengths, making hair ribbons for Susie and her friends, and this is the end of the story. But if the cough drop doesn't fall off the bath room shelf while it's watching the alarm clock clean its teeth, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the carpet sweeper.

THEATRES

The GLENDALE

"A Front Page Story," now showing at the Glendale Theatre, is reputed to be the most realistic newspaper story that has visited this city in a long time.

It is not a murder story, nor is it a mystery, but comedy-drama pure and—well, not so simple!

Jess Robbins, whose production it is, named it "A Front Page Story" and it pictures life in an average American town and in an average American town newspaper.

The story tells of the cantankerous quarreling that has extended over a generation between John Gorham, mayor of the town, and Matt Hayward, editor of the Gazette. These two men are both all wrapped up in the destiny of their city but differ as to methods of promoting its progress.

The climax comes over the disposition of the Mussarotti farm, and the point of contention is whether the farm shall be reserved for factory sites or for a park.

The resultant situations are so realistic and so dramatically arranged that Glendalians will particularly enjoy this picture, states Manager William Howe.

The T. D. & L.

"The Hero," a Gasnier production showing at the T. D. & L. Theatre for the last times today, is the same remarkable play by Gilbert Emery that was such a success on Broadway last season, the only difference being that this is the screen version.

The title role is filled by Gaston Glass, who did such fine work in "Humoresque." Another role of prominence is played by popular Barbara La Marr, as the wife of the "Hero," while Ethel Shannon and Doris Pawn, both featured players in many fine films, each have splendid roles.

"The Hero" tells an unforgettable story of a man's bravery on the battlefield, of his subsequent degeneration—and of his ultimate salvation.

Red Roses

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

A tall man with laughing blue eyes Rezanof met the adventure of a new world as another might greet it in story. Despite the rougher and heavier clothes demanded of Alaskan climate he carried himself as the courier of the Czar. He was always Count Rezanof, the trusted and the fortunate.

The century had little more than turned into the years of eighteen hundred when the young man was despatched from the court, across the plains of Siberia and then over the Pacific to Alaska. There had been tales of ill-fortune besetting the colony of Russia in the new land. Rezanof was to investigate, to act as the needs demanded.

The laugh faded from the blue eyes at the scene of desolation. Men and women were ill here and there was not enough to eat.

"We have sent word down the coast to Commander Arguello at Yerba Buena, that Orzoff will sail with a cargo to be traded for supplies," they told him. "And now Orzoff is dead."

It was Count Rezanof who took command of the sailing vessel, loaded with furs and the meat of reindeer, and followed the rock strewn shore line down to the Golden Gate. Once on the east they saw the outlines of Fort Ross where fellow Russians were established, but there was no time to tarry. At Yerba Buena, where San Francisco now stands, they were told Arguello was at Monterey. Again they set sail.

Commander of the Presidio, supreme power next to the King of Spain, was Arguello. Also he was a man who had dealt with his fellows in enough ways to be suspicious.

"I am told Count Orzoff would come. Instead, it is Rezanof. There is nothing I will do."

There was a blue bay and white sands at Monterey, a gay and carefree community. Count Rezanof, but for the knowledge of his countrymen in the north, could have found the place to his liking. In vain he besought Arguello to alter his decision. Then he met the Commander's daughter, Concepcion Arguello, a maid of seventeen and a love story was born.

The two watched the moon trail its path out into the Pacific. They walked on the rocky cliffs where the waves pounded in and sent white spray shouting toward them. They were silent with the cypresses stretching gnarled and twisted arms away from the foam and over the white dunes, and they were very much in love.

Concepcion carried the day with her father when she announced she had accepted Count Rezanof and there was a gay party in the Presidio.

"You will stay here, though," said Arguello, "for I have not changed my mind."

Friends of the Commander pleaded for the starving men of the North. Then the padres added their words and, finally, the old man gave in.

So the ship sailed again with the blue-eyed Count Rezanof.

"I will go back to Russia," he told the girl, "and there win the consent of my Czar to our marriage. Then I will come back and we will live here where the red roses climb on the walls and where the water is so blue." Concepcion stood on the shore and watched the ship grow small in the west.

Many times after that the figure of Concepcion Arguello was seen on the cliff looking for a ship that never came back. Who was to tell her of a Russian count who lost his life making his way westward across the wastes of Siberia? At seventeen, twenty, and at thirty she was waiting. Then, twenty-six years after the day of her betrothal, she learned why her lover had not returned.

Concepcion Arguello wept and smiled. Rezanof had not been unfaithful. She had done right to wait.

At Benecia, to the north Monterey, the nunnery where Sister Concepcion was loved and venerated, is her grave and on it is growing red roses.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY vs MATERIALITY

IT WON'T BE ANY EASIER TOMORROW

No one likes to be fat. I use the short and ugly term because it gives a definite picture more expressive than the term overweight. No one likes to be fat. I really don't believe even Mr. Johnston, the author of "The Fun of Being a Fat Man," likes to be fat. Methinks the gentleman doth protest too much.

No one likes to be fat. You do not like to be fat. You plan to diet—tomorrow. Now tomorrow is today and you are invited to a luncheon or a banquet or a picnic, and so you don't diet today. Still you are going to diet tomorrow. It is to those of you who are going to diet tomorrow that I address this article. I am going to tell you something that will start you dieting today.

It is this. You plan to diet today. You are hungry. A very tempting fattening meal makes you think again that you will diet—tomorrow. When that thought comes say emphatically to yourself: "It won't be any easier tomorrow!" Picture yourself tomorrow going through the same hunger that you are going through today, the same desire for the fattening foods, and then say again to yourself: "It won't be any easier tomorrow—unless I begin today." I have found that that thought has been a very helpful deciding force with me many times.

Now, after you have controlled your appetite today, you can say it will be easier tomorrow. For that is an absolute fact. It will be ten times as easy tomorrow. What you do today from force of will, you are able to do tomorrow from force of will plus a little help from force of habit. After a while you will find that the force of will occupies a minor place. And you are an example of the maxim—what you do at first from force of will you do later from force of habit.

While I am talking of these psychological helps in reducing, I shall tell you of some other psychological helps. Plan the day before just what you are going to eat and write it down. Then it is settled in your mind and you won't have to be holding debating societies with yourself and making decisions the next day. Don't allow your thoughts to dwell upon forbidden foods. Don't look in candy or pastry windows, and don't "taste." The second taste is always harder to resist than the first.

When you see a pound of candy you would like, don't think of it as candy but as a lump of tallow annexed on to your fattest spot. When your friends eat ice-cream sodas (500 or 600 C's) you drink your plain seltzer water with the same gusto.

Have pictures of women with beautiful figures, whose proportions you want to approach, on your dining table and dresser, where you can see them when you are tempted to over-eat and under-exercise.

If you go on 1200 calories a day, which is a reducing number for almost anyone, and if your meals are properly balanced and arranged, you will not suffer from hunger.

Plan to have your meals at definite times. If you should feel uncomfortably hungry before they arrive, drink a glass or two of water—hot or cold, and you may have a little lemon juice in it to make it more palatable.

Begin today to diet. It won't be any easier tomorrow—unless you begin today.

Germany Asks Probe of Killing of Citizens

BERLIN, March 22.—The German government today sent out a note asking for an international inquiry into the killing of Germans at Buer and Essen, and provisions of The Hague tribunal compact.

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

BEAUTY BY SUGGESTION

Last year we chatted a great deal about the wonderful Frenchman, M. Coue, and his method of curing by auto-suggestion. M. Coue has since repeated in America the extraordinary success he was having then in London and France. Thousands flocked to his lectures where only hundreds could be admitted, and where only comparatively few even of these could be treated. The papers have reported any number of cures all due to the power of auto-suggestion, for Coue himself remains as modest as ever and denies that he is a "miracle man" or anything like it.

We all know the extraordinary force of suggestion, particularly of suggesting things to our selves, in short, auto-suggestion, but we don't really know how to use this marvelous power yet. The great Frenchman is helping to teach us how. I have often talked here of the value of suggesting health and beauty to yourself, for you can, I believe, accomplish a great deal by it.

I do not mean that you should simply say to yourself "I am beautiful" and then calmly go about as though you were. This might lead to vanity, which is the very opposite to beauty. I only want you to say to yourself "I will grow more beautiful every day," and meantime do everything practical that is in your power to accomplish this;—the practical things being proper food, the right amount of exercise and fresh air and bathing and the other and more frivolous aids to good looks.

After all, you are bound to have faith in these "practical aids" for you know right living means health, and health means beauty and that cold creams and hair tonics have some virtue even thought you think it slight. And, this, after all, is auto-suggestion.

Fillie:—As you state that so many parts of your body are too stout, it is evident that you are in need of a general reduction. Why not try special dieting?

Marie G.:—Warts and moles on the face and neck should be removed only by a specialist so there will be no danger of a scar.

Worried:—103 pounds is about five pounds underweight for a girl of 15 who is five feet three inches tall. Consult the doctor about the enlargement of the throat.

Blackheads:—Dissolve the soil in the blackheads on your chest; by massaging into them some warm oil, after which take a hot bath in which you use the bath brush liberally. Repeat this every day but be sure to close the pores each time by cooling the water at the end of bath until you complete it by using water cold enough to exhilarate.

Tomorrow—Feeding the elbows.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

BLESSED BE SUNSHINE

I sing today the song of sunshine.

What a blessed thing it is and how beautiful!

I love sunshine.

I love to sit in it as I work.

I love the gay patches of it on my kitchen floor.

The ancients worshipped the sun, showing how untutored peoples will often reach by intuition the same ends that civilized people ultimately arrive at by science. They did not know then that the sun is the source of all life on this planet, but they felt in some way its life-giving power.

The Best Ornament

Sunshine is the best ornament any room can have. Give me rather a shabby pleasant room filled with the good cheer of the morning sun, than a richly furnished room if it be sunless. I was brought up in a house built just after the civil war. The hall was on the south side of the house and had no window. And on the north side was a living room. Well did he speak who said that, judging from their products, it seems as if the architects of the country must have left their brains instead of their bodies on the battlefieds of the civil war. Today almost no one builds a house without considering how he can best make use of the natural adornment of sunshine.

The Doctor

I love the phrase in the Bible, "with healing in his wings." Sunshine has healing in its wings. In the last generation or two doctors have come to realize and utilize this therapeutic power of sunshine. The doctor's prescription for a shut-in friend of mine who cannot get out in the cold weather is to wrap herself up warm, open the windows and draw her couch up to the window so that she will be drenched with sunshine. She lies that way for an hour or two every day. She is troubled with insomnia, but almost always before the sun bath is over she has dropped off to sleep.

"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures, He leadeth me beside still waters, He restoreth my soul," seems to me to describe the first cure for nervous prostration. There is no mention of sunshine in it because it was written by one who lived in a very hot climate were coolness was synonymous with peace, and the soul of the heat-sick traveler longed for "the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." But if the Psalmist had lived in the temperate zone like most of us, I am sure he would have said: "He heals me with His sunshine."

All Kinds

I sing the song of sunshine.

Of winter sunshine, clean and brilliant and vitalizing.

Of spring sunshine, unbelievably warm in the sheltered corner out of the March wind.

Of summer sunshine, blazing but beautiful.

And, best of all, of the sunshine of an October noon bathing and blessing a world over which the peace of harvest time seems to brood.

Tomorrow—Where We Get Our Opinions.

Enjoin Miners Union In W. Va. Coal Field

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 22.—A permanent injunction against the use of the check-off system to unionize open shop mines was issued by United States District Judge McClintic at Huntington. The injunction displaces the temporary restraining order granted last September and later extended but which now has expired. The Carbon Fuel Company and twenty-two other coal companies in the Kanawha field are the plaintiffs. The action was brought direct against the international organization of mine workers.

The decision prohibits the international body from sending money into West Virginia for unionization of plaintiff's mines and also directs that the defendants shall not do or cause to be done anything towards calling, or continuance of any strike, nor may they interfere in any way with activities of plaintiffs.

Deaths of Soldiers Start Alcoholic Probe

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 22.—A board of officers was called at Fort Benning, near here, to investigate the death of two enlisted men by wood alcohol poisoning.

The dead are: M. Davis, former civilian employe of the quartermaster corps, and Private Aaron Parrill, of the 22nd infantry.

Two other enlisted men were suffering from serious effects of the deadly poison.

The following crochet directions for a "tam" which will fit a doll ten inches high, were requested by a Column Reader. I cannot always promise to publish directions for which my readers ask, for I do not profess to have a complete file of knitting and crochet directions; but when I happen to have rules for a garment that is asked for, I am very glad to give them in this column.

A Doll's Tam:—Buy two spools of rose-color crochet silk. Using a number 14 steel hook, make four chain stitches, then join, forming a circle.

Row 1: 6 s. c. into circle. Row 2: * s. c. into first st., 1 s. c. into next st., repeat * (in working, take up the back half of each stitch only.)

Row 3: 2 s. c. into each st. Row 4: 1 s. c. into each st. Row 5: * 2 s. c. into first st., 1 s. c. into each of next two sts., repeat *. Row 6: * 2 s. c. into first st., 1 s. c. into each of next three sts., repeat *. Row 7: * 2 s. c. into first st., 1 s. c. into each of next four sts., repeat *.

Row 8: * 2 s. c. into first st., 1 s. c. into each of next five sts., repeat . Row 9: 1 s. c. into each set. Row 10: * 2 s. c. into first st., 1 s. c. into next 2 sts., repeat *. Row 11: 1 s. c. into each st. Row 12: * 2 s. c. into first st., 1 s. c. into each of next three sts., repeat *. Row 13: 1 s. c. into each st., repeat for the next four rows. Row 18: * over the first 2 sts. make 1 s. c. (which decreases 1 st.,) 1 s. c. into each of seven sts., repeat *. Row 19: 1 s. c. into each st. Row 20: * Decrease 1 st., 6 s. c., repeat *. Row 21: 1 s. c. into each st. Row 22: * Decrease 1 st., 5 s. c. repeat *.

Row 23: 1 s. c. into each st. Row 24: * Decrease 1 st., 4 s. c. repeat *. Row 25: 1 s. c. into each st. Row 26: * Decrease 1 st. 3 s. c., repeat *. Row 27: 1 s. c. into each st., repeat for the next two rows, turn. Row 30: 1 s. c. into each st., taking up both front and back portions, repeat for four rows, forming the band. Break thread. Now make a silk pompon and attach it in the middle on top.

Freak distance swimming has been undertaken all over the world. We know of the many attempts to swim the English Channel and swimmers have negotiated the Panama canal. Some years ago a popular swim was from the Battery in New York to Coney Island and another was the Boston Light swim and there are many others.

Now within the last four weeks two Argentine girls have engraved their names on the records of freak swims by negotiating for twenty or more hours the waters of the Parana river. On February 3, of this year Lillian Harrison made a record of twenty-one hours from Mirate to Buenos Aires and a little more than a month later another girl, Anna Outbrod swam fifty-two miles in the same river in twenty-two hours and forty-seven minutes.

Just what is gained by these swims—outside of world wide notoriety—is not known. The swimmers seem to enjoy it and no one evidently is the worse for wear. Here is a list of the most popular freak swims on record:

Antonio Sacher, swam the Gulf of Genoa, Italy, 4 miles in 1 hour, 31 minutes and 20 seconds, a record for the swim.

Sam Richards, Boston, Boston Light and return, 26 miles in 13 hours, 9 minutes. August 17, 1913.

Al Brown, New York, Sandy Hook from the Battery, N. Y. 22 miles in 13 hours, 30 minutes. August 28, 1913.

Henry Sullivan, attempted to swim Providence, R. I. to Nantasket Light, but failed, did 30 miles in 20 hours and 28 minutes. August 19-20, 1916.

Charles Toth, Boston Light and return, 26 miles, 15 hours, 47 minutes. September 12, 1915.

Henry Elionskey, failed Battery to Sandy Hook, 23 miles in water, 15 hours and 29 minutes. August 20, 1913.

Bob Dowling swan around Manhattan Island, 35 miles in 13 hours and 45 minutes. September 4, 1916.

Joe Gunther swam Kanawha canal, W. Va., 28 miles in 16 hours and 12 minutes. August 4, 1917.

George Meehan, Battery to Sandy Hook, 22 miles in 7 hours and 18 minutes. July 19, 1914.

Walter Dunn, Battery to Sandy Hook, 22 miles in 8 hours and 16 minutes. July 19, 1914.

Gus Wise, Charlestown, Mass., to Boston Light, 13 miles in 8 hours and 16 minutes. July 20, 1913.

Henry Miron, Charlestown to Boston Light, 13 miles in 4 hours and 50 minutes. August 19, 1915.

George Kistler, Philadelphia to Chester and return, 33 miles, in 11 hours and 11 minutes. September 7, 1901.

C. B. Durborow, across mouth of Delaware River, 42 miles, in 44 hours and 15 minutes. July 1, 1012.

Elaine Golding, Philadelphia, swam Panama Canal, 41 miles in 27 hours and 41 minutes. October 1, 1913.

Capt. Brown, Boston, swam Panama Canal, 41 miles in 24 hours and 45 minutes. September 1913.

Mrs. Mildred Pollack, S. F. swam from Coronado Tent City to San Diego, in 1 hour and 5 minutes. July 7, 1917.

Arthur Cavill attempted to swim Seattle Harbor March 2, 1914, died of exhaustion and cold after being in water 7 hours.

The WORLD OVER

While it may be more or less interesting to learn what liquor as a diet will do for the training of an athlete, it nevertheless is not doing the boxing game any particular good if the news dispatches concerning Battling Siki are to be given credence. According to these reports the Senegalese boxer simply is keeping himself filled with intoxicants with the result that he seems to be on a continual rampage in which he takes his chief delight in breaking doors and blacking his white wife's eyes.

Followers of the boxing game, under the circumstances are almost a unit in expressing the opinion that Siki will never "arrive anywhere". It has been proven time and time again that the path of rectitude is the only one that will make for progress in athletics. The man who has tackled John Barleycorn sooner or later has come a cropper.

Of all the men who have fought in the ring probably one man succeeded in gaining the top rung of the ladder notwithstanding his tendency toward strong drink. This man was John L. Sullivan, who proved the exception that makes good the rule. Sullivan had a constitution that not one man in a million has and because of this was able to throw off the effects of his debauches without any particular injury to himself.

There is no question that the average successful boxer is beset with all sorts of temptations of which the most common is the drink habit. It is the easiest to acquire. The woods are full of men in the past who have fallen by the wayside, particularly after their efforts had momentarily been crowned by success.

As time goes by Stanford's chances in track and field athletics become more and more shattered and Coach Templeton may truly be said to be leading a forlorn hope. If he makes good he will be deserving of the most unstinted credit under the conditions in which he is working.

On top of the loss of several heavy point winners last winter owing to derelictions in class work, some of his best remaining athletes have been left weakened from the effects of influenza. It is a known fact that one does not recover strength fast after an attack of this kind and there is considerable doubt if the men will be able to do themselves credit. Of course the preliminary meets will give some idea as to what may be expected, but it is safe to say that even the most optimistic of the Stanford students sees nothing but dark and lowering clouds.

At all events, Stanford has the reputation of fighting to the last ditch and she may spring a surprise.

Killifer Takes Over Seattle Ball Club

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 22. — Wade Killifer, one of the new owners of the Seattle baseball club and former manager of the Los Angeles club, has arrived here to look over his new team.

Killifer upon his arrival said Harry Wolverton had not been deposed as manager of the team. He also denied emphatically that William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Angels, had any interest in the Seattle club.

Immediately upon arrival here he proceeded to get in touch with J. J. Sullivan of Seattle and Charles Lockhard, his associates in the purchase of the club, and stated he would see Wolverton later after which he would make a further statement regarding the plans of the new management.

RADIO TO BRING PEACE TO WORLD

Famous Inventor Predicts World Friendships by Wireless

By ROBERT S. THORNBORO
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Radio is a panacea which will end world wars and promote peace and international fellowship. Hiram Percy Maxim, Hartford, Conn., president of the Radio League of America, predicted yesterday in an interview with International News Service.

Maxim represents the amateur radio enthusiasts of North America at the limitations of interference conference in session here at the instance of Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

Within a few years every well regulated home will contain a broadcasting and regular radio phone set, Maxim declared, visualizing the future from the amateur's standpoint.

"There will come, not only nation-wide private citizen communication, but international transmission of messages whereby a resident of New York may chat with a friend in Rome, or any other city of the world." declared Maxim.

"This inter-nation communication will build up friendships and, more than any political influence, will establish world brotherhood and good will."

Maxim said he frequently holds conversations with associate members of the radio league in Mexico, Canada, Hawaii, and European countries.

"The league's purpose is first to stimulate the interest of the amateur in the United States and then extend our influence to foreign nations."

Giants and Yanks to Repeat, Is Belief

NEW YORK, March 22.—Sharp-shooters on baseball form are getting down quiet but significant bets on the Giants and Yanks to repeat in their respective leagues this season. They seem to feel that both New York clubs are the surest thing since Ponzi came a cropper and are even going so far as to offer and give odds on the Giants against the field in the National league.

Reports from the southern training camps have had an abiding influence upon the speculative instincts of the Broadway sharpshooters. The disability of George Sisler of the Browns, and Jake Daubert, of Cincinnati, are regarded as big factors in the race this season. They are regarded as having gone back somewhat.

Both clubs have added many promising youngsters, and these are looked to keep these two respective clubs well in the lead.

Oddly enough, the Pirates are favored for second place in spite of the latter's impressive rush that landed them in the runner-up position in the second half of the past season.

Glendale Indians to Battle Culver City

The Glendale Indians will meet the strong Culver City nine at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, on the Park and San Fernando grounds, announces Manager Walt Heidler.

The boys from the film citadel are coming loaded for bear, as they are also after a berth in the Valley league, which the Glendale team has already accomplished. So this promises to be another peppy game.

Manager Heidler will probably do the hurling but may use "Dewey" Harris, as he showed real form and made a big hit with the fans, at last Sunday's game.

The Indians need a lot of support and their manager requests all ball-lovers to make a special effort to turn out.

Untried Rookies Will Get Regular Chance

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 22. —While it is a bit too early for predictions, it is nevertheless entirely possible that Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is in a fair way to duplicate his notable achievement of the 1922 training trip in developing Dazzy Vance, Bert Griffith, Andy High and Decatur from untried rookies to regulars of the front rank. He plans to retain four youths from the squad of new men.

Glendale Pin Sharks Will Organize League

There will be a meeting of the captains of the local bowling teams at 8 o'clock tonight at the Jensen bowling alleys, 133 North Brand boulevard, announces Manager Peter Neise of the alleys.

The meeting is called for the purpose of organizing what will be known as the Glendale Recreation Bowling league, and all interested are invited to attend.

Glendale Union high school's track squad, under the direction of Coach Normal C. Hayhurst, had a workout Tuesday afternoon on the field of Occidental college.

Central league high schools will compete in a track meet on this field Saturday. Those to participate will be South Pasadena, Alhambra, Monrovia, Citrus, Covina and Glendale.

Samples of the medals to be given winners are on exhibition this week at the high school.

The Sport Crucible
By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 22.—Champion fighters who champion, neither do they fight, will soon receive an Al Jennings request from the New York State Athletic commission to defend their titles at the earliest possible moment. Al always made his requests with a six gun. The commission's order will be augmented with the threat of an indefinite suspension, which is almost as effective.

The tolerant soul of William Muldoon, it seems, has become thoroughly fed up with the artful dodging of ring champions, and in one sweeping gesture, he has made known his abiding dissatisfaction with leaders of the various divisions, the exceptions being Jack Dempsey, whom he tacitly bars, and Johnny Kilbane and Johnny Wilson whom he ignores.

The first head to fall was Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion. Walker has been set down indefinitely because he engaged in a bout of rather pale green complexion with one Charley Naschert, otherwise Charley Fitzsimmons, in Buffalo recently. It appears that Walker defended his title not well but too wisely on this occasion and the good citizens of Buffalo managed to gain the impression, it is said, that they had witnessed a buck and wing.

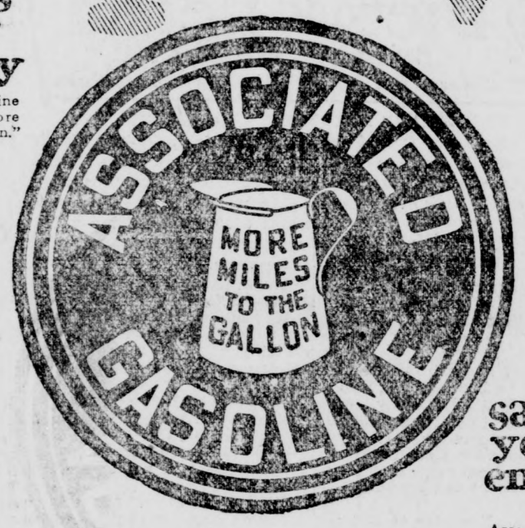
C. of C. Forum Dinner Postponed for Present

Announcement was made yesterday afternoon by Jesse E. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce, that the Forum dinner planned for tonight has been indefinitely postponed.

The affair will doubtless take place within the next few weeks, the definite date to be made known later, he said.

you save three ways

1 saves your money
Associated Gasoline delivers "more miles to the gallon."



2 saves your engine
Associated Gasoline prevents dilution of crank case oil.

Every drop of Associated Gasoline is consumed in the combustion chambers—this means that it is all converted to power. Gasoline that leaks into the crank case does more than lose power—it contaminates the lubricating oil. Analysis of crank case oil often shows 25% raw gasoline. Avoid this trouble by using Associated Gasoline—and Cycol Motor Oil.

Look for the Associated sign shown by good garages and service stations.

MINISTERS PLAN UNION SERVICES

Churches to Unite During Holy Week in Noon Hour Meetings

In anticipation of Easter Sunday, April 1, Glendale churches are to unite during Holy Week beginning Monday, March 26, in daily noon hour services in the Glendale theater. The services are to be held every day, except Saturday, from 12:15 to 1 o'clock. At each service there will be a pre-Easter message, special music and community singing.

Announcement of the speakers has been made as:

Monday, Dr. Edgar Faye Daugherty of the First Christian church of Los Angeles.

Tuesday, Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher of Temple Baptist church of Los Angeles.

Wednesday, Dr. Frank Dyer of Wilshire Boulevard Congregational church of Los Angeles.

Thursday, Dr. Merle Smith of the First Methodist church of Pasadena.

Friday, Dr. Hugh K. Walker of the First Presbyterian church of Los Angeles.

MINOR OPERATION

A minor operation was performed upon Mrs. Ruth Taylor of 506 North Jackson street this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

BLACK GOLD IS SPEAKER'S TOPIC

Exchange Club Hears of Facts About Oil and Its Production

California has not yet commenced to exhaust its supply of "black gold".

J. S. McDonald of Los Angeles, former member of the United States geological survey who has visited every oil field in the world, made this assertion yesterday noon in the Harriet Mae Tea Room, 201 East Harvard street at the weekly meeting of the Glendale Exchange club.

"Petroleum is the least known, the most abused and the most vital commodity in today's modern civilization!" he exclaimed. "It consists of hydro-carbon, the same as the sun—stored sunshine, if you please, buried years and years ago in aeons of time way back."

Despite the fact that the petroleum industry is considered very hazardous, according to Mr. McDonald, he reported that 76 per cent of all wells in United States produced either oil or gas in commercial quantities. He added that 82 per cent of the wells in California have been producers. He stated that the annual production of petroleum in this state is crowding the 600,000,000 barrel mark and that the income from this liquid treasure is about a billion dollars a year.

Limitations of Life

The life of an oil field, according to Mr. McDonald, depends upon three conditions: First, the quantity of oil; second, the porosity of the soil; third, the number of wells in the area. He stated that he had seen natural springs of oil along the Euphrates which hieroglyphics showed were flowing in the balmy days of Babylon and Nineveh.

"We can cite wells in various parts of the United States that have been producing petroleum on a commercial basis for upwards of forty years."

The Signal Hill district was recommended as a store house for oil six years ago. His report was not given attention until later. It stated that the Signal Hill, Huntington Park and Santa Fe Springs fields seem to contain the deepest oil sands yet tapped.

Program of Music

A musical program, which was much applauded, was put on by Miss Justine White and Miss Octavia White of Los Angeles, who sang a number of duets accompanying themselves upon ukeleles. Some jazz was played, also, by Earl Rahn of Los Angeles at the piano.

A coupon book for five gallons of motor lubrication was the attendance prize. This was donated by V. V. Vursillat of Los Angeles. It was won by W. C. Waring of 201 South Brand boulevard, who was one of the founders of the local Exchange club.

A brief talk on transportation was given by E. L. Shaw, representative of the Glendale Bus Company who attended the luncheon with C. D. Gulick.

"I presume that you are all familiar with the transportation needs of Glendale at the present time," he remarksd. "We are all aware of the fact that transportation is the keynote of the growth of any town or city. We all realize that transportation is the only means by which ultimate growth of a city, transportation of country may be attained."

The Glendale Bus Company proposes to charge a rate of 15 cents one way or 25 cents round trip between Glendale and Los Angeles, according to Mr. Shaw, and operate busses on a six minute schedule during the rush hours.

Dr. Warren Z. Newton of 121 North Brand boulevard was the chairman of the day. Captain D. Ripley Jackson of 1800 South Brand boulevard presided as president of the Glendale Exchange club.

COUNCIL MINUTES

The council of the city of Glendale met in special meeting at the council chamber in the city hall of said city, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock last Tuesday, pursuant to a call for such meeting signed by the mayor and on file with the city clerk.

Transfer Funds

Moved by Councilman Lapham, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, that the sum of $6000 be transferred from the park and recreation unappropriated reserve, to the park and recreation budget fund for the purpose of completing landscaping on Patterson avenue park. Vote as follows: Ayes: Davis, Kimlin, Lapham, Robinson. Noes: None. Absent: Stephenson.

Airport Campaign Committee

At this time meeting was formally turned over to the Airport Campaign Committee. Representative citizens were present and Judge F. H. Lowe appointed temporary chairman.

On motion from the floor C. D. Thom was elected as permanent chairman. The Council then adjourned.

Postpone Concert by Stanford Glee Club

The Leland Stanford Men's Glee Club concert which was to be given on April 2, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, under the auspices of the Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association has been indefinitely postponed on account of the illness of the chairman of arrangements, Mrs. D. F. Reichard. Money will be refunded to those having already purchased tickets by telephoning Mrs. E. S. Dodds, Glendale 2749-W.

LUNCHEON AMID SHADE OF OAKS

Frank Meline Company Is Host; Tell of Plans For City Park

and help advertise Glendale more effectively than any other agency could possibly do.

J. C. Sherer, city treasurer, spoke of the pride he has taken in Glendale during the many years of his residence here and of the need for harmonious relations between every element in the town's citizenship, in order that the best interests of the city may be advanced.

Harking back ten years, to the time when he first came here with the determination to work for the good of Glendale and its permanent development, A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, expressed the gratification that he said everyone must feel at the gift to Glendale of the two-acre park in the beautiful surroundings that the valley affords.

Tryon Tells Plans

Charles T. Tryon, one of the owners of the property, welcomed the guests on behalf of the Glenoaks Syndicate and of the Frank Meline Company, describing the Realty Boards and the Chambers of Commerce of the towns represented as vital forces in the development of their respective communities. Mr. Tryon called attention to the fact that his syndicate in addition to the park site, is giving the ground for a boulevard, seventy-five feet wide along its course of three miles through the tract, on which is to be built a boulevard that will lead from Glendale, along the floor of the valley to Linda Vista, Flintridge and on to Pasadena, affording one of the most beautiful scenic drives to be found in the southland. Engineers who have been working on this boulevard for the last six months, he declared, have now finished their task, and the completed boulevard will be an accomplished fact in the immediate future, when motorists will have access to a new wonderland that is at present inaccessible to automobiles. The syndicate, he added, is laying out bridle paths through the densely wooded hills that will afford miles of roads for equestrians.

The proposed boulevard will lead from the valley up over a notch in the hills to the east of the tract, never rising at a greater rate than a six per cent grade, making it easy for cars to make the entire trip in high gear.

In detailing the syndicate's plans for the park, Mr. Tryon stated that the many springs on the tract afford abundant water, and this has been piped to the park site where it is on tap for public use. It is not the intention of his organization, declared Mr. Tryon, to give the city anything but the best possible piece of land for a park site, and if it should be found that the site as at present proposed is unsuitable for any reason whatever, he and his associates will gladly permit the city to select another site.

Lauds Glendale Spirit

Haskell Hall, manager at the tract for the Frank Meline Company, welcomed the visitors to the tract and praised the Glendale spirit of co-operation that he has found so prevalent since he came here to take charge of the property.

Eagle Rock was represented by W. R. Johnston, president of the realty board of that city, who predicted that a road would shortly connect Eagle Rock and Glendale, coming over the hills to the south of the Glenoaks tract and forming another scenic route for the travelers through this section.

Mayor Robinson introduced an old personal friend in the person of Dan Stone, of Trinidad, Colo., who stated that his main object in coming to Glendale was to secure an injunction to prevent Mayor Robinson's singing any more, which, he thought, would be a distinct advantage to Glendale and its people.

Dr. Jessie Russell, park commissioner, declared that the city could not have too many parks, and she praised the spirit that led the owners of the tract to present to Glendale the site that has been selected.

An active selling campaign is now being carried on by the Frank Meline Company, and it is predicted that the attractions of the Glenoaks tract will lead to the establishment of a record for quick sales to homeseekers who appreciate a site that combines beauty with accessibility to Glendale.

Opposes Division of Site of Sanitarium

A vigorous protest against splitting up the Glendale Sanitarium site on East Broadway is registered by D. H. McGuire of 241 North Cedar street, who feels that this location should still be preserved as a city park, no matter how far things have gone toward subdividing it.

Mr. McGuire states he is taking the matter up with city officials today, and gives it as his opinion that this city lacks adequate park facilities to take care of its certain and rapid growth.

Mr. McGuire feels that short-sighted policies are being permitted to predominate, in failing to provide Glendale with proper municipal recreation grounds, and cites the case of his home city of Cincinnati, Ohio, which was forced to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars for its parks, when the employment of far-sighted policies could have obtained these same sites for a fraction of their ultimate cost.

It would not be so bad if people who have nothing to say would let it go at that.

BARONESS TELLS OF RUSSIAN LIFE

Exiles' Early Struggle in America Is Told by Lecturer

try where much grain is grown and the land not tilled covered with forests.

The Russian houses she described as in two divisions, one side composed of a living room, bedroom, kitchen and dining-room, and the other side the habitation of the family animals. She told of the coarse methods of cooking and of the lack of sanitary conveniences and ventilation in the homes.

Of special interest was her description of the schools. The Russian village schools are the only free institutions in Russia. They are crude buildings, poorly equipped with one long table with benches on either side.

The education the children receive in these schools is best measured by the teacher's salary, which was nine dollars a month.

Then there are the other schools kept up by the federal government but there are not enough of these.

The de Ropps' son was held for nine months in a Bolshevik prison for no crime, other than being a member of a royal battalion. Later his wife was held as a hostage and he was forced to work on assessing government food products. From 1917 to 1922 his parents had no word from him. However, when they again got in communication with each other the son sent his parents a copy of his memoirs kept during those five years, and this manuscript is a treasured possession of his father and mother.

Russians Dissatisfied

In closing Baroness de Ropp stated that under the present government the Russian people are very dissatisfied because 90 per cent of the earnings of the peasants is taken by the government; because there is no right of private property; because all arms are taken or the owner fined; because of high prices of food and clothing; because of heavy taxation on everything; because of the presence of spies everywhere.

Preceding Baroness de Ropp's address there was a Parent-Teachers' Association meeting directed by Mrs. W. Q. Widdows.

Selections were given by the high school orchestra directed by Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, and Miss Gwendolyn Warner sang "The Winter Lullaby" by DeKoven.

Mrs. P. L. Hatch gave a brief report on the sweaters the Parent-Teachers' Association is to purchase for the high school band and the final decision was left to the committee.

A report of the treasurer stated that $66.38 was contributed to the Parent-Teachers' Association Federation by the high school Parent-Teachers' Association booth at the recent bazaar.

Mrs. P. O. Lucas was appointed the Parent Teachers' Association representative on the Federation nominating committee.

Mr. Lockwood of the high school faculty talked on the Governor's cut in the school budget and the association adopted a resolution concerning it.

The association is to hold a cake sale April 18, before the regular meeting.

GARAGE BURNS

Fire about 10:20 o'clock last night destroyed a garage at 419 East Stocker street containing a Ford coupe, both the property of A. E. Morton. An alarm was turned in by W. B. Kelly of 305 East Randolph street and truck No. 5 with seven fire fighters hurried to the scene from Station No. 1.
